The transformation of our society and economy towards sustainability brings significant challenges and new tasks for PR. PR agencies, communications consultants, and communication departments in companies and institutions have both great opportunities and a special responsibility to shape this process and positively influence public opinion and behavior.

Sustainability communications have become an important working area as companies' statutory reporting obligations increase and main stakeholders, like consumers, business partners or civil society, ask for more information and transparency.

Trainers

JOHANNES NAIMER-STACH (Klimaschutzakademie),

DAMIEN PLANT (Business Advisor),

JÜRGEN H. GANGOLY (Skills | Team Farmer, ICCO)

This training course has been jointly developed by ESG and climate protection experts, NGOs, national and international PR industry associations, quality management auditors and – as a result – offers a unique and broad variety of expertise and views on the topic. The course equips communication managers and PR consultants not only with the basics, but offers specific hands-on expertise in sustainability and climate protection communication, and provides access to an international network of ESG and communications experts. Upon successful completion of the course, participants will receive the certificate „CERTIFIED SUSTAINABILITY COMMUNICATIONS EXPERT“ issued by the International Communications Consultancy Organisation (ICCO).

FOR MID-LEVEL AND SENIOR COMMUNICATIONS CONSULTANTS AND MANAGERS WITH AT LEAST 4 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Certified training programme in sustainability communication designed for public relations and communications professionals. Jointly developed with the PR industry associations of the DACH region (GPRA, PRVA, LSA) and the International Communications Consultancy Organisation (ICCO).
